Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a single column and appears to be a list or a series of entries. The script is dense and difficult to decipher, but it seems to contain names and dates. The paper is aged and shows signs of wear, including two dark circular marks (possibly holes or stains) and some discoloration.

The first of these is the fact that the number of people who are employed in the service of the government is increasing rapidly. This is due to the fact that the government is expanding its activities in many fields, and is therefore requiring more and more people to work for it.

1. The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the plane was the cold. It was a shock to the system, but I quickly adjusted.
The air was crisp and clean, a stark contrast to the humid air of the tropics. I took a deep breath and felt a sense of freedom. The ground below was a patchwork of green fields and small villages. The sky was a deep blue, with a few wispy clouds. I felt like I was in a new world, one that was full of possibilities. I had heard that the country was beautiful, and now I knew it was true. The people were friendly and welcoming, and the food was delicious. I was in luck.
I had found a place that was just what I needed. I was going to stay here for a while, and I was going to make the most of it.
